SUGAR PROBE STIRRING UP MANY INTERESTS

TARIFF COMMISSION IN INVESTIGATION OF SUGAR PRICES

MONTH MAY BE CONSUMED IN EXAMINATION BEFORE RE-PORT IS MADE

FIGHT MAY BE WAGED BY TWO GROUPS OF SUGAR INTERESTS
IN HEARING

(By United Press)
Washington, March 29.—The tariff commission's investigation of sugar prices, ordered by President Harding, is expected by the department of commerce to result in a battle between foreign and American sugar interests.

Although Chairman Marvin of the commission stated that the inquiry would be pushed with all possible speed, officials of the commission estimated it would be at least a month before the report could be made to the president.

The report may be delayed by the fight which the two groups of sugar interests are expected to wage before the commission. The following interested group which will include American representatives of Cuban producers and some large refining interests will seek to place the blame for high sugar prices on the tariff which amounts to approximately two cents per pound. Their hope is that the president will reduce the tariff because greater profits might fall.

BULLETINS FROM THE LEGISLATURE

(By United Press)
Rural Credits Bill Passed
St. Paul, March 29.—The state senate today passed the rural credits bill.

Several slight amendments by the senate will take the bill to conference. It has already passed the house which must concur in the amendments before it goes to the governor for signature.

New State Trunk Highway
St. Paul, March 29.—J. J. Jacobson introduced today by request of Governor Preus a bill creating a new state trunk highway to be number 71 and to run from near Little Falls to connect with number 18 between Milaca and Onamia.

Mille Lacs county seat has been changed from Princeton to Milaca and the new road is to give Milaca better direct connection with the Twin Cities. A large part of the route would then be over the concrete highway from the Twin Cities to Little Falls.

NEW EVIDENCE IS UNCOVERED

ALL WITNESSES SUMMONED IN
"BROADWAY BUTTERFLY"
CASE

(By United Press)
New York, March 29.—New evidence uncovered in recent developments of the Dorothy King, "Broadway Butterfly", murder investigation prompted Assistant District Attorney Pecora today to summon all witnesses for questioning.

The examination of Draper M. Daugherty, son of the attorney general, and friend of the beautiful model, revealed certain points which necessitate a new investigation of all witnesses, Pecora said.

Daugherty furnished the prosecutor with the name of a man who attempted to extort a position in the department of justice from him under threat of blackmail and whom he defied because he was innocent.

John Kearsley Mitchell, Philadelphia millionaire, another friend of the girl at whom a blackmail plot was aimed, will be summoned from his home here. He has affected a reconciliation with his wife despite revelations of his friendship for the murdered model.

He is expected here tomorrow.

INTEREST AND GOOD ROADS OR ENDLESS REPAIRS ON BAD ROADS, THE ALTERNATIVE OFFERED BY STATE HIGHWAY BOND PLAN

That is the alternative offered by the state highway bond plan—the same amount of money to be used either way.

The Daily Dispatch never has been accused of urging unwise expenditure of public funds or of sponsoring extravagance.

We sincerely believe that the state good roads program with bond issues will work toward a period of prosperity for farmer and town dwellers alike. We join the progressive newspapers in supporting this very important public undertaking.

It has been established that the highway bond plan will not increase taxes. But it will set the road program ahead five years and give us the use of the good roads while we are paying for them and without additional expense.

This is made possible by a saving of more than $1,250,000 a year on maintenance under the bond plan, and thus $7,250,000 instead of only $6,610,000 annually will be available for the building of lasting improvements.

Good roads are a necessity. They must be built if the farmer is to prosper. They are equally important to the cities and towns.

The state highway commissioner recommends the bond issue after careful study, expert advice and experience. His facts and figures have not been challenged. No better plan has been presented.

Minnesota's big highway program is at the last turn—ready to go "over the top." This state cannot afford now to mark time when to go forward will take no more money but will yield more good roads.

The bond plan is gaining strength because it is becoming better understood. It is deserving of the support of every Minnesotan.

You can help yourself and your community—speed up the highway program—by letter or telegram to our members of the legislature urging them to vote for the highway bond bill this week, or at least to use their best judgment, which means the same thing.

Let's not delay because the bond bill is likely to be voted soon.

WALL OF WOMEN IN VAIN ATTEMPT TO SAVE THEIR PASTOR

WOMEN OF WISNITZ FORMED A SOLID PHALANX AT CHURCH YARD

INTERBRAIDED HAIR AND TIED
HANDS TOGETHER AND BAT-TLE SOLDIERS

(By United Press)
Breslau, March 29.—The entire community of Wisnitz—aroused by an attempt to arrest a village priest, Father Krakau, for some petty offense—banded themselves about the church yard today and weaponless fought off two hundred soldiers.

Village women formed a phalanx, linking themselves together by interbraiding their hair and tying their hands together. With this wall of womanhood, they completely surrounded the church in double line and resisted for hours any attempt of the 120 infantrymen and 80 cavalry to penetrate it.

When finally a charge of cavalry crushed the human wall beneath the hoofs of the horses, a second line formed about the door of the church, hurling hot sand and burning salt in the eyes of the soldiers.

Fifty-six women were arrested and many were seriously injured. When the priest was finally taken out, the attack was renewed by the men, and four police were wounded.

FOSTER TRIAL 5TH DAY DAWNS

(By United Press)
St. Joseph, Mich., March 29.—All hope of the William Z. Foster trial reaching the jury this week was given up as the fifth day of the examination of Charles E. Ruthenberg, chief defense witness, began today.

Foster Takes Stand
St. Joseph, Mich., March 29.—William Z. Foster, a mild mannered man with a fighter's jaw and a dreamer's brow, took the witness stand in court here today in an effort to clear himself of charges of violation of the Michigan syndicalist act.

Foster, the second witness for the defense in the sensational trial followed Charles E. Ruthenberg on the stand.

Under questioning by his attorney, Frank P. Walsh, the defendant went into his history from boyhood.

"I first worked in a plant where fertilizer was manufactured," Foster said.

"Then I went to the woods of Oregon and Washington and worked as a lumberjack until I was 24."

Foster told how when he was 24 he went to sea and sailed for three years before the mast. Later, he took a homestead in the Oregon woods and attempted to make a livelihood until 1909 when he sold his land and went to Europe to study languages and the labor movement.

After two years he returned to Chicago and went to work for a railroad until 1915, when he became business agent for the Brotherhood of Railway workmen which he held for a year and a half.

"In 1917 I was made secretary of a movement to organize the packing industry," the witness continued.

"A year later I took a similar position in an effort to organize workers in the steel industry."

CARL ZAPFFE ON BOARD OF APPRAISERS TO ASCERTAIN VALUE OF LITTLE FALLS' PRESENT WATER DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM

Judge John A. Roeder of St. Cloud, district judge of the seventh judicial district, has appointed a board of three to examine into and appraise the value of Little Falls' water distribution system. The members are Oscar Clausen of St. Paul, for many years a city engineer there and frequently employed by the Brainerd city council as a consulting engineer; J. C. Shannon of St. Paul; and Carl Zapffe of Brainerd, a well known geologist and engineer, and president of the Brainerd Water and Light Board.

The appraisers were originally summoned to meet March 16, but Senator C. Rosenmeier of Little Falls, attorney for the Little Falls Water Power Company, was unable to leave the senate while it was in session and at his request the date of meeting was changed to April 23.

The city of Little Falls is condemning the plant to obtain the present distribution system, being about seven and one-eighths miles of pipe, none of which is older than 1890 and all cast iron pipe, together with the hydrants, valves, meters, specials and service pipes.

Excluded are the pumps, pump house and water power rights. There is no franchise, the same having expired about four years ago.

The three appraisers were selected jointly and are acceptable to both parties.

Little Falls is believed to have 400 water consumers, the whole system being a more compact one than Brainerd's. The monthly minimum rate at present in Little Falls is $1 a month, or $1.50 a quarter if the consumer maintains a deposit for use of the water meter.

Water rates are of a sliding scale, being 30c per thousand gallons for the first 10,000 gallons; 25c for the next 10,000; 20c for the next 10,000; 15c for the next 10c for the next, 5c per thousand for the 60,000 gallons; and 4c per thousand gallons for all over 60,000 gallons.

SWIRLS ABOUT THE PRESIDENT BECAUSE OF CRTICS' STAND

ATTORNEY GENERAL DAUGHERTY AROUSES THEIR IRE BE-CAUSE OF ANNOUNCEMENT

MADE BY HIM OF WARREN G.
HARDING'S CANDIDACY FOR PRESIDENCY

(By United Press)
St. Augustine, Fla., March 29: A little republican family quarrel swirled about President Harding today as critics of Attorney General Daugherty attempted to discredit him because of his announcement of Mr. Harding's 1924 candidacy.

These forces close to the president and antagonistic to Daugherty are circulating erroneous reports of a split between Mr. Harding and his attorney general campaign manager.

Mr. Harding is considerably irritated at the dispute which these forces have stirred up.

Daugherty's enemies, however, have given out a story that Daugherty is about to issue a statement explaining his Miami announcement was entirely unofficial and without Mr. Harding's knowledge. Daugherty said he has no intention of giving out any further statements and reiterated what he said at Miami, namely that he had not talked with Mr. Harding about 1924.

Another statement was given out yesterday by a man who came to St. Augustine about the time the president arrived. This man told today how adroitly and clever he made it appear that Mr. Harding had expressed displeasure to Daugherty over the much disputed announcement. The trouble with the story was that when it was given out, Mr. Harding had not yet seen the attorney general.

It was learned authoritatively from the president's suite that the matter was not discussed.

Daugherty's friends in the presidential party are urging him to make reprisal by pointing out how the story was given out, but he is unwilling to continue the controversy. The affair has caused such a stir however, that some development may follow. The dissatisfaction over the announcement was first expressed by Brigadier General Sawyer, personal physician of Mr. Harding, who said a day or two after the announcement that it was premature and inappropriate and that politics ought not to be injected into the vacation of the president.

Mr. Harding played golf this morning. He may leave for Augusta, Georgia Friday instead of Saturday.

SECOND FIRE AT RITZ APARTMENTS

FORTY PERSONS DRIVEN TO STREETS, MANY JUMP FROM THE WINDOWS

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, March 29.—A second fire in four days at the Ritz apartments last night drove forty persons into the street. The fire gained such headway that many residents did not risk the halls, and jumped from windows.

Others were carried down ladders by firemen. A one year old baby was rescued from a smoke filled room and was taken to a hospital for observation.

Those who jumped from the windows were not injured.

Both fires started in the basement of the apartment and the flames, fanned by a strong draft spread rapidly.

City and state fire authorities are expected to make an investigation of both fires. Damage caused by the fire last night was estimated at $10,000.

WALKER, STRONG, LATTER'S WIFE AND BROTHER

(By United Press)
Harlan, Kentucky, March 29.—Four were killed in a battle between prohibition agents and moonshiners at the log cabin home of Ike Strong about six miles from here late yesterday.

Hundreds of shots were fired. The dead: Kelly Walker, deputy United States prohibition agent.

Isaac Strong, alleged moonshiner. Mrs. Strong, his wife.

George S. Strong, a brother. Twenty liquor agents surrounded the house. Walker started to enter, and was shot down. Then the battle started.

When firing from the house was silenced, agents entered and found the three Strong dead on the floor.

(By United Press)
Alpena, Mich., March 29.—Two men were burned to death and several injured when fire swept the Alpena county infirmary here today.

The names of the dead men were given as Huddell and Rudd.

The fire started in the basement of the institution and gained great headway before it was discovered. When the firemen arrived the structure was in flames. They were hampered in their work by zero weather. Several of the inmates had to be carried out of the institution.

Before it was designated a color, magenta was—and still is—the name of a city in Italy. The red aniline dye was first produced in the Italian city, or obtained its name from the city in the country of vivid colors. EARL OF CARNARVON, DISCOVERER OF KING TUT, IS NEAR DEATH

(By United Press)
Cairo, Egypt, March 29.—The Earl of Carnarvon, discoverer of the tomb of King Tut-Ankh-Amen, is near death from blood poisoning. His condition was described today as extremely grave, following a collapse yesterday afternoon. A consultation of specialists has been called to devise new means of fighting effects of the poison.

Carnarvon was taken ill 10 days ago but was thought improving until the relapse. The infection is believed to have been from the bite of an insect while the Earl was supervising the work at the tomb. Later Carnarvon appeared better. Lady Carnarvon arrived recently from London having been forced by illness to abandon an airplane flight to her husband's bedside.

'DIVINE SARAH' IS LAID TO REST AMONG IMMORTALS

RICH AND POOR, COUNTLESS
THOUSANDS, IN THE FUNER-AL CORTEGE

SHE HAD THE "MANY, MANY FLOWERS" SHE CALLED FOR
ON HER DEATH BED

(By United Press)
Paris, March 29.—A solemn funeral cortege wound through the streets of Paris today carrying the body of the beloved Sarah Bernhardt to its rest among the immortals at Pere La Chaise cemetery.

Dignitaries of France, representatives of foreign governments, rich and poor, which the "Divine Sarah" graced, and the countless thousands that applauded her triumphs, all were represented in the slow moving procession.

For a brief while the artist lay in state in the little church of St. Francois De Sales. The edifice was completely draped in long black and silver hangings. Inside it was filled ceiling high with flowers.

Bernhardt had the "many, many flowers" she called for on her death bed. Long after the funeral procession carried her on to the cemetery where she will lie for a while before the final resting place at her own Belle Isle is ready for her, admirers came to the church with huge bunches of flowers and countless wreaths of white lilies and roses.

The body lay in the church vault until 11 o'clock. Then the coffin was placed in a catafalque covered with black hangings and white crosses in the center of the church.

Paris, March 29.—Sarah Bernhardt sleeps tonight among the immortals of Pere La Chaise in a vault, buried deep in fragrant lilies while a seemingly endless line of mourners files slowly past.

After the most gorgeous and touching funeral service and procession Paris has ever seen, in which relatives and friends, great and poor, old servants and those who worshipped the divine actress' art, joined in tribute to her wonderful life, the coffin was slowly lowered into its vault in the Bernhardt family tomb late this afternoon.

A priest pronounced the benediction as the setting sun lit up the plain black letters on the marble slab: "Bernhardt".

The ceremonies were as simple as the epitaph. The great tragedienne's dying wish was observed. "Leave my tomb alone. Let nature tend it."

PROIBITION MEN AND MOONSHINERS BATTLE, 4 KILLED

LOG CABIN HOME OF IKE STRONG, NEAR HARLAN, KY., IS SCENE OF DEATH

KILLED WERE FEDERAL AGENT WALKER, STRONG, LATTE'S WIFE AND BROTHER

(By United Press)
Harlan, Kentucky, March 29.—Four were killed in a battle between prohibition agents and moonshiners at the log cabin home of Ike Strong about six miles from here late yesterday.

Hundreds of shots were fired. The dead: Kelly Walker, deputy United States prohibition agent.

Isaac Strong, alleged moonshiner.

Mrs. Strong, his wife.

George S. Strong, a brother.

Twenty liquor agents surrounded the house. Walker started to enter, and was shot down. Then the battle started.

When firing from the house was silenced, agents entered and found the three Strong dead on the floor.

TWO MEN WERE BURNED TO DEATH

FIRE SWEEPS ALPENA COUNTY INFIRMARY IN ZERO WEATHER

(By United Press)
Alpena, Mich., March 29.—Two men were burned to death and several injured when fire swept the Alpena county infirmary here today.

The names of the dead men were given as Huddell and Rudd.

The fire started in the basement of the institution and gained great headway before it was discovered. When the firemen arrived the structure was in flames. They were hampered in their work by zero weather. Several of the inmates had to be carried out of the institution.

Old City of Magenta.
Before it was designated a color, magenta was—and still is—the name of a city in Italy. The red aniline dye was first produced in the Italian city, or obtained its name from the city in the country of vivid colors. At Magenta, which is 24 miles northwest of Pavia, a great battle was fought, in 1859, in which the Austrians were defeated by the combined French and Sardinians.

EARL OF CARNARVON, DISCOVERER OF KING TUT, IS NEAR DEATH

(By United Press)
Cairo, Egypt, March 29.—The Earl of Carnarvon, discoverer of the tomb of King Tut-Ankh-Amen, is near death from blood poisoning. His condition was described today as extremely grave, following a collapse yesterday afternoon.

A consultation of specialists has been called to devise new means of fighting effects of the poison.

Carnarvon was taken ill 10 days ago but was thought improving until the relapse. The infection is believed to have been from the bite of an insect while the Earl was supervising the work at the tomb. Later Carnarvon appeared better. Lady Carnarvon arrived recently from London having been forced by illness to abandon an airplane flight to her husband's bedside.

POLITICS

Authorized by the
BIGGER and BETTER
BRAINERD CLUB

Server or Actor

In its days Brainerd has had all sorts of men as Mayors. Many of them served as mayors and many of them acted as mayors. These two expressions are very common ones on the streets, are used indiscriminately usually, but are true expressions in the correct sense of the words. One man serves, another man acts; and invariably the one who acts does so intermittently.

There is a difference between men in public service. Now what do you think Brainerd ought to have today—an actor or a server.

At that an actor must be good to get by. We might admit that the actor is good, even if only to please him, but we are determined in our assertion that we do not want that kind of a man now.

We know what is needed in Brainerd today and that is a man who is a server; more than that, he must be a good server and a trained server. He must have received his training elsewhere, in the school of hard knocks, and not do his practicing as Mayor of Brainerd. The citizens do not constitute a political clinic where the inexperienced practice.

We do not criticize any past mayor. It is simply a case that what we need today is a man like Con O'Brien. Brainerd is indeed fortunate that there is in Brainerd a Con O'Brien, not only that type of a man but the actuality, the living being. It is that type of man we need. No wonder people from all parts of Brainerd wanted to sign his petition. The knowledge about him is general. People know the difference between men all right; but some fellow always will bob up who acts and thinks he can get the people into believing that they are being abused and that he is their Moses.

Give us the practical man, and the Server.

A Platform

Some one who was looking for some sort of an excuse not to vote for Con O'Brien asked what his platform was, hoping, perhaps, that something might be revealed that is now not desired to be revealed.

That person must think that Brainerd determines upon its candidates according to the national party programs. All know that Mr. O'Brien is nationally a member of the Democratic party. Maybe that will answer the question for that fellow, and others like him. Some people always know more about federal government affairs than municipal matters.

In Brainerd we have no political parties. Some people attempt to make it appear that there are two classes; but that is wrong, because Brainerd is too big to have only two classes. Brainerd has, however, a large number of groups of people, each group drawing its supporters and adherents from all parts of the city and from all ranks and kinds. These people pay little heed to what another group says, does, or votes. The candidate is supported according to his personal characteristics, his business career, his successes and failures, and not according to politics, creed, or rank.

The platform in Brainerd is always quite the same, and it has been made by the City Councils of the past, and it consists of all the ordinances they have passed and amended from time to time. The mayor has as his principal duty the enforcement of these ordinances. Mr. O'Brien's determination is that these laws shall be enforced. If anyone objects to that, then let the voter see to it that the membership on the City Council is changed, or is made to change the ordinances.

The few things the Mayor contributes are strength of character, good judgment, and be a Brainerdite first, last and all the time, which is something Mr. O'Brien has been for forty years and does not have to begin now and try to prove it in a few days preceding an election. A bigger and a better Brainerd is the platform.

Spanish Place-Names Retained.

All the region acquired by the United States from Mexico, particularly southern California, keeps alive in its place-names the memory of its Spanish explorers, and settlers. While there are Indian names on the Pacific coast, it is a curious fact that these are few, relatively speaking, in comparison with the rest of the country. North of the Spanish belt capes and towns often reflect the loyalty of early settlers to the older states of the Union.

Mistletoe.

Young ladies, hanging mistletoe, may be worried to know that this white-berried plant is considered a bringer of bad luck in parts of Ireland and in Devonshire, England. Vergil, Roman poet, described one part of hades as the home of mistletoe. But few care about superstition, or anything else, where a kiss is concerned.

Server or Actor

In its days Brainerd has had all sorts of men as Mayors. Many of them served as mayors and many of them acted as mayors. These two expressions are very common ones on the streets, are used indiscriminately usually, but are true expressions in the correct sense of the words. One man serves, another man acts; and invariably the one who acts does so intermittently.

There is a difference between men in public service. Now what do you think Brainerd ought to have today—an actor or a server.

At that an actor must be good to get by. We might admit that the actor is good, even if only to please him, but we are determined in our assertion that we do not want that kind of a man now.

We know what is needed in Brainerd today and that is a man who is a server; more than that, he must be a good server and a trained server. He must have received his training elsewhere, in the school of hard knocks, and not do his practicing as Mayor of Brainerd. The citizens do not constitute a political clinic where the inexperienced practice.

We do not criticize any past mayor. It is simply a case that what we need today is a man like Con O'Brien. Brainerd is indeed fortunate that there is in Brainerd a Con O'Brien, not only that type of a man but the actuality, the living being. It is that type of man we need. No wonder people from all parts of Brainerd wanted to sign his petition. The knowledge about him is general. People know the difference between men all right; but some fellow always will bob up who acts and thinks he can get the people into believing that they are being abused and that he is their Moses. Give us the practical man, and the Server.

A Platform

Some one who was looking for some sort of an excuse not to vote for Con O'Brien asked what his platform was, hoping, perhaps, that something might be revealed that is now not desired to be revealed.

That person must think that Brainerd determines upon its candidates according to the national party programs. All know that Mr. O'Brien is nationally a member of the Democratic party. Maybe that will answer the question for that fellow, and others like him. Some people always know more about federal government affairs than municipal matters.

In Brainerd we have no political parties. Some people attempt to make it appear that there are two classes; but that is wrong, because Brainerd is too big to have only two classes. Brainerd has, however, a large number of groups of people, each group drawing its supporters and adherents from all parts of the city and from all ranks and kinds. These people pay little heed to what another group says, does, or votes. The candidate is supported according to his personal characteristics, his business career, his successes and failures, and not according to politics, creed, or rank.

The platform in Brainerd is always quite the same, and it has been made by the City Councils of the past, and it consists of all the ordinances they have passed and amended from time to time. The mayor has as his principal duty the enforcement of these ordinances. Mr. O'Brien's determination is that these laws shall be enforced. If anyone objects to that, then let the voter see to it that the membership on the City Council is changed, or is made to change the ordinances.

The few things the Mayor contributes are strength of character, good judgment, and be a Brainerdite first, last and all the time, which is something Mr. O'Brien has been for forty years and does not have to begin now and try to prove it in a few days preceding an election. A bigger and a better Brainerd is the platform.

HOW THE OTHER HALF LIVES

AMERICANS will find it hard to understand how English farm laborers live on an income of $5.75 per week. However, they will immediately conclude that the standard of living made possible by such a wage is not a high one. In concluding that the conditions of living are not of a high order, they are abundantly justified. Whatever the conditions of the rural workers were under feudalism, they could not be much worse than they have been since feudalism as a name passed out to leave in its wake conditions, that took the control of the bodies of men out of the power of feudal lords to make men the beneficiaries of a system that works them 54 hours per week for a wage amounting to $5.75.

But even in the position in which they are found today, farm laborers in England are much better off than they were when Joseph Arch, the first representative of agricultural laborers in the house of commons, aroused by the hardships in which his neighbors and himself were compelled to live, sought to change conditions by voicing the wrongs of agricultural workers in the halls of parliament. The standard of the farm laborers in England has been considerably raised since the day when Joseph Arch entered parliament—raised until today they are receiving $5.75 for a week of 54 hours.

There is a tendency for men in such conditions to take one of two attitudes. They may become docile and accept their lot with a sullen sense of the inevitable, working like "dumb, driven cattle," or they may rebel. Usually they become docile, ambitionless, drifting along from the cradle to the grave without a thought of a brighter future this side of heaven. Occasionally, in times of general unrest, they express their indignation, but it is not often that they strike for better pay and improved conditions.

It is true that in many cases they have the opportunity of keeping pigs and chickens on the estate, that is, if they can afford to buy the pigs and chickens. These help them to exist, and with an existence they are expected to be content.

At this time the farm laborers in one section of England are not contented. They are out on strike against the small wages they receive. But there is one unusual feature about this strike. Both the employers and the employed are agreed that wages are not what they ought to be. The owners of the estates conclude that more ought to be paid, and the laborers admit that they cannot quite see how the owners can pay more. The prices of produce are fixed by the prices of Canadian and American products and with these at a low ebb the landlords cannot get a price which will make it possible for them to increase wages.

This is a case in which both the owner and the laborer suffer. Many estates in England have been sold recently because the owners could not afford to pay wages and taxes. Unless the workers are employed they earn nothing, and their second case is worse than their former status.

It is not right that workers and their families should be compelled to live on such wages and in such conditions. But the problem they are up against is exactly the same as the problem that has faced the farmers of the Northwest of the United States. Until prices of produce are raised there is no hope for improvement in the lot of the English laborer or the Northwest farmer. The law of economics is inexorable. But as the law of gravitation has been studied and utilized by human intelligence, which has made it serve mankind, so the law of economics must be more thoroughly understood and made to serve the interests of the race of men. The law itself is beneficent, but failure to organize production and distribution according to its mandates, makes the world a wilderness for many toilers. Spite, hatreds, selfishness and greed lead to the breaking of this law as they lead to the violation of man-made laws. The sad fact is that those who do not have a voice in their breaking are compelled to suffer because others transgress.

CHILD DELINQUENCY AGAIN

A SERIOUS study of the problems that underlie juvenile delinquency is bound to be helpful. Guessing at cures is not nearly as satisfactory as prescribing after a careful diagnosis has been made. Unless this is done, the remedies that are suggested may turn out to be the guesses of "quack" healers of our social order rather than careful programs recommended by trained workers.

Two matters are called to the attention of the public by those who have the facts before them. Minnesota is spending a great amount of money in ever-increasing sums for the purpose of providing institutions of various kinds to deal with those who are delinquent. This is putting the cart before the horse. The object of these institutions is not prevention but correction. They salvage the wreck instead of taking the rocks out of the channel or attending to the sea-worthiness of the ship before it puts out to sea. It is apparent that the first care of society should be directed to prevention, and when this is done the cost of cures will steadily decrease.

The second matter to which attention is called has to do with the lack of disciplinary programs in the present-day home and community. It is claimed that if the children were required to observe a certain routine they would be less likely to become delinquent. Students of the subject recommend a certain definite schedule which, when attended to by the young people, will cultivate habits engendering a sense of responsibility. Young horses may be harshly broken or kindly led to take the bit and bear the harness. But it is essential that by one means or the other they learn their place. Children's wills must not be broken but guided into line with what is socially and morally right.

Along with the attempt to discipline young lives there must go a careful examination of those who show wayward tendencies for the purpose of determining whether physical or mental defects are responsible for the tendencies towards delinquency. These defects should be attended to before the young life has destroyed its best hopes, rather than after its wrong-doing has brought the youth into an institution for delinquents. Correction of the physical and mental defects of the subnormal and discipline for the normal will reduce the number of inmates in our institutions, thereby removing the stigma that is attached to those who break the rules of life's game.

THE people of Minnesota will decide whether or not there is to be a tax on gasoline. Taxes are annoying things and there is always a tendency to switch them from one thing to another but the people pay wherever they are put.

WOMEN were swept off their feet by the gale blowing through the streets of Superior. The weather of the Twin Ports must be hard on the ladies.

JUST two more days' shopping before Easter and the weather isn't helping the merchants at all.

SUMMER HOME BURNED

Gust Almquist's Place Near Rocky Point, Gull Lake, Entirely Destroyed

The elaborate summer home of Gust Almquist, a quarter of a mile south of Rocky Point resort on Gull Lake, was entirely destroyed by fire at eleven o'clock Monday morning, the building and contents being a total loss.

Mr. Almquist is well known in this section, being a part owner in the Rocky Point summer resort at the time it was built. He later sold his interest to C. E. Anderson, present owner, and built on property adjoining.

Mr. Almquist, with the caretaker, Albert Mountain, have been staying at the lake for the past month preparing for the summer. The owner had gone back into the timber, on Monday morning to cut wood, and the caretaker had gone to the mail box two miles distant.

When Mr. Almquist returned to the house at eleven o'clock the roof was a mass of flames, and the interior was on fire. There was no help to be had and the fire had progressed to the extent that all efforts were in vain. The loss is estimated at $4,500 partly covered by insurance.

Mr. Almquist left Tuesday afternoon for Minneapolis, and stated that it is his intention to rebuild the property immediately, so that it will be ready for this summer's use.

It is not right that workers and their families should be compelled to live on such wages and in such conditions. But the problem they are up against is exactly the same as the problem that has faced the farmers of the Northwest of the United States. Until prices of produce are raised there is no hope for improvement in the lot of the English laborer or the Northwest farmer. The law of economics is inexorable. But as the law of gravitation has been studied and utilized by human intelligence, which has made it serve mankind, so the law of economics must be more thoroughly understood and made to serve the interests of the race of men. The law itself is beneficent, but failure to organize production and distribution according to its mandates, makes the world a wilderness for many toilers. Spite, hatreds, selfishness and greed lead to the breaking of this law as they lead to the violation of man-made laws. The sad fact is that those who do not have a voice in their breaking are compelled to suffer because others transgress.

CHILD DELINQUENCY AGAIN

A SERIOUS study of the problems that underlie juvenile delinquency is bound to be helpful. Guessing at cures is not nearly as satisfactory as prescribing after a careful diagnosis has been made. Unless this is done, the remedies that are suggested may turn out to be the guesses of "quack" healers of our social order rather than careful programs recommended by trained workers.

Two matters are called to the attention of the public by those who have the facts before them. Minnesota is spending a great amount of money in ever-increasing sums for the purpose of providing institutions of various kinds to deal with those who are delinquent. This is putting the cart before the horse. The object of these institutions is not prevention but correction. They salvage the wreck instead of taking the rocks out of the channel or attending to the sea-worthiness of the ship before it puts out to sea. It is apparent that the first care of society should be directed to prevention, and when this is done the cost of cures will steadily decrease.

The second matter to which attention is called has to do with the lack of disciplinary programs in the present-day home and community. It is claimed that if the children were required to observe a certain routine they would be less likely to become delinquent. Students of the subject recommend a certain definite schedule which, when attended to by the young people, will cultivate habits engendering a sense of responsibility. Young horses may be harshly broken or kindly led to take the bit and bear the harness. But it is essential that by one means or the other they learn their place. Children's wills must not be broken but guided into line with what is socially and morally right.

Along with the attempt to discipline young lives there must go a careful examination of those who show wayward tendencies for the purpose of determining whether physical or mental defects are responsible for the tendencies towards delinquency. These defects should be attended to before the young life has destroyed its best hopes, rather than after its wrong-doing has brought the youth into an institution for delinquents. Correction of the physical and mental defects of the subnormal and discipline for the normal will reduce the number of inmates in our institutions, thereby removing the stigma that is attached to those who break the rules of life's game.

THE people of Minnesota will decide whether or not there is to be a tax on gasoline. Taxes are annoying things and there is always a tendency to switch them from one thing to another but the people pay wherever they are put.

SUMMER HOME BURNED

Gust Almquist's Place Near Rocky Point, Gull Lake, Entirely Destroyed

The elaborate summer home of Gust Almquist, a quarter of a mile south of Rocky Point resort on Gull Lake, was entirely destroyed by fire at eleven o'clock Monday morning, the building and contents being a total loss.

Mr. Almquist is well known in this section, being a part owner in the Rocky Point summer resort at the time it was built. He later sold his interest to C. E. Anderson, present owner, and built on property adjoining.

Mr. Almquist, with the caretaker, Albert Mountain, have been staying at the lake for the past month preparing for the summer. The owner had gone back into the timber, on Monday morning to cut wood, and the caretaker had gone to the mail box two miles distant.

When Mr. Almquist returned to the house at eleven o'clock the roof was a mass of flames, and the interior was on fire. There was no help to be had and the fire had progressed to the extent that all efforts were in vain. The loss is estimated at $4,500 partly covered by insurance.

Mr. Almquist left Tuesday afternoon for Minneapolis, and stated that it is his intention to rebuild the property immediately, so that it will be ready for this summer's use.

COMPANY INQUIRES ABOUT MARL DEPOSIT

Crow Wing county is gaining further recognition on account of its marl deposits, brought into the limelight by County Engineer Walter M. Murphy during the past year.

In a recent report on marl, the University of Minnesota gave a great deal of space to the deposits near Brainerd, showing numerous photographs of the use of this substance

IF HAIR IS TURNING GRAY, USE SAGE TEA

Here's Grandmother's Recipe to Darken and Beautify Faded Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all-ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.—Advt.

as a road building material, experiments that were made by Mr. Murphy on several pieces of roadway last summer.

This report came into the hands of the Smith-Beal Fire Brick Company of Minneapolis, a firm manufacturing fire brick and special cement used with it, and doing an extensive business throughout Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Dakotas.

Marl forms an important part of the cement put out by this company, and it has written Mr. Murphy regarding the Crow Wing county deposits. The letter says, in part:

"We would like to secure a ten-pound sample of the material and if it is feasible to secure this marl in carload quantities, we would like to have a quotation f. o. b. cars, with approximate percentage of moisture content."

Mr. Murphy, always an ardent marl enthusiast, welcomes such communications, since he is thoroughly convinced of the commercial value of this substance, found in large quantities in the vicinity of Brainerd.

Once the consumers of marl are aware of these deposits, and a demand created for the material, Mr. Murphy feels that this country will begin to realize good financial returns on this natural resource. It is hoped that the Smith-Beal Company will find our marl ideal for their use.

ELECTION BOARDS

HOLD MEETINGS

Prepare Lists of Voters for the Coming City Election of Tuesday, April 3

INTEREST GROWS IN CONTEST

Voting By Mail for Brainerd's City Election Will be a Negligible Quantity

The election boards met at the various polling places on Tuesday and prepared the list of voters for the coming city election. These lists have been posted in the different wards according to law.

It should be stated that in municipal elections of cities of the fourth class, such as Brainerd, there is a registration day, as some had supposed, previous to the date of election.

Many questions are being asked at this time, with regard to the requirements for voting on next Tuesday, and the principal one of these questions seems to be that of the necessity of registration.

It is required of the voter that he be a citizen in the state the required length of time, six months, in the county ninety days and the precinct thirty days.

It had been the intention of a number of Brainerd residents who could not be in the city to vote on next Tuesday, to vote by mail, but these persons are doomed to disappointment.

To be able to vote by mail the law requires that an application be made not more than thirty days previous to the date of election and that no applications may be received within the last ten days before the day of election.

No such applications were received between the thirty and ten day limit, therefore, there will be no voting by mail this year.

Citizens are requested to keep polling places in their wards in mind, and the hours of voting, from 6 A. M. to 9 P. M. This especially applies to Northeast Brainerd, where the third ward has been divided into two precincts since the last election.

Elm street, the first one south of Ash Avenue running east and west, is the dividing line between these two precincts. The house being the polling place for one, the Lowell school the other.

CHAPEL CHOIR PROGRAM

ood Ensemble Singing by Choir
From State Teachers College of Moorhead
(Contributed)

Brainerd's appreciation for the opportunity of hearing good music could not have been shown any better than it was Sunday afternoon at a surely sacred concert at the Presbyterian church, which was filled beyond its seating capacity. We have ever been more fortunate in having such good ensemble singing as was given by the Chapel Choir of the State Teachers College of Moorhead.

Much credit is due Mr. Preston, director, for his wonderful ensemble work with these young ladies, some of whom have just entered the Teachers College. His solo work showed well trained voice and was greatly appreciated by all.

Miss Adele Coffin, soprano, Miss Esther Lindig, soprano and Miss Constance Lobeck, contralto, were the soloists of the afternoon singing with a natural musical ability.

We are greatly indebted to the Chapel Choir for this treat and feel assured, should they include us in next year's concert-tour, that a full house of music lovers would greet them. Our only regret was that we were unable to have them during the week when they might have given us their entire program.

Fast but not least was their help in the evening when they sang four numbers during the services. We realize that this was going the extra mile.

The following program was given in the afternoon.

Genius.

The whole difference between a man of genius and other men... is that the first remains a child, seeing with the large eyes of children, in perpetual wonder, not conscious of much knowledge—conscious rather of infinite ignorance, and yet infinite power; a fountain of eternal admiration, delight and creative force within him meeting the ocean of visible and governable things around him.—Ruskin, "Stones of Venice."

ELECTION BOARDS HOLD MEETINGS

Prepare Lists of Voters for the Coming City Election of Tuesday, April 3

INTEREST GROWS IN CONTEST

Voting By Mail for Brainerd's City Election Will be a Negligible Quantity

The election boards met at the various polling places on Tuesday and prepared the list of voters for the coming city election. These lists have been posted in the different wards according to law.

It should be stated that in municipal elections of cities of the fourth class, such as Brainerd, there is a registration day, as some had supposed, previous to the date of election.

Many questions are being asked at this time, with regard to the requirements for voting on next Tuesday, and the principal one of these questions seems to be that of the necessity of registration.

It is required of the voter that he be a citizen in the state the required length of time, six months, in the county ninety days and the precinct thirty days.

It had been the intention of a number of Brainerd residents who could not be in the city to vote on next Tuesday, to vote by mail, but these persons are doomed to disappointment.

To be able to vote by mail the law requires that an application be made not more than thirty days previous to the date of election and that no applications may be received within the last ten days before the day of election.

No such applications were received between the thirty and ten day limit, therefore, there will be no voting by mail this year.

Citizens are requested to keep polling places in their wards in mind, and the hour of voting, from 6 A. M. to 9 P. M. This especially applies to Northeast Brainerd, where the third ward has been divided into two precincts since the last election. Elm street, the first one south of Ash Avenue running east and west, is the dividing line between these two precincts. The hosehouse being the polling place for one, the Lowell school the other.

CHAPEL CHOIR PROGRAM

Good Ensemble Singing by Choir
From State Teachers College of Moorhead
(Contributed)

Brainerd's appreciation for the opportunity of hearing good music could not have been shown any better than it was Sunday afternoon at a purely sacred concert at the Presbyterian church, which was filled beyond its seating capacity. We have ever been more fortunate in having such good ensemble singing as was given by the Chapel Choir of the State Teachers College of Moorhead. Much credit is due Mr. Preston, director, for his wonderful ensemble work with these young ladies, some of whom have just entered the Teachers College. His solo work showed well trained voice and was greatly appreciated by all.

Miss Adele Coffin, soprano, Miss Esther Lindig, soprano and Miss Constance Lobeck, contralto, were the soloists of the afternoon singing with a natural musical ability.

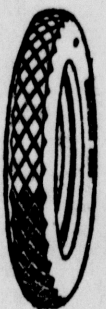

We are greatly indebted to the Chapel Choir for this treat and feel assured, should they include us in next year's concert tour, that a full house of music lovers would greet them. Our only regret was that we were unable to have them during the week when they might have given us their entire program.

Last but not least was their help in the evening when they sang four numbers during the services. We realize that this was going the extra mile.

The following program was given in the afternoon.

Miss Adele Coffin, soprano

R. L. McCormack of Company Gains
Added Experience in Twin Cities

R. L. McCormack, proprietor of the Brainerd Auto Top Co., with quarters in the Lively Garage building, has just returned from Minneapolis where he has been employed the past winter with Downham and Cammett Co., recognized authorities as body builders of the Twin Cities.

Mr. McCormack accepted this position to gain more experience in building and repairing California tops, and in sedan and coupe upholstery, making seat covers, etc.

He has returned to Brainerd better equipped than ever to take care of the needs of this community. New equipment and much new material has been added so that Mr. McCormack feels that he can especially serve the closed car patrons from now on.

John Strom, who assisted at the Brainerd Auto Top Company last year, will be retained for this season. Much work has already been contracted and prospects seem to point to a very busy season.

The advertisement of this firm will be found in another column of the Dispatch and is well worth reading.

MRS. JEANETT SMITH CALLED TO REWARD

Had Lived the Past Three Years with Her Son, Rev. Walter J. Smith of Brainerd

LEAVES 7 SONS, 3 DAUGHTERS

She was a Devoted Christian, Found Her Greatest Solace in Study of the Bible

Mrs. Jeanett Smith, age 94, who has been living with her son, Rev.
Walter J. Smith for the past three years, passed away this morning at 8 o'clock from the infirmities of old age.

She was the widow of Ashel W.
Smith, who preceded her to his reward about ten years ago. She leaves seven sons and three daughters who are John L. Smith and I. N.
Smith of Minneapolis, James R.
Smith, Ezra R. Smith and Rev.
Walter J. Smith of Brainerd, George A. Smith and Stillman Smith of Canada; Mrs. J. Groves of Bay City, Mich.; Mrs. Samuel Moorhead of Campbell's Bay Canada; Mrs. W. C.
Haire of Campbell, Minn. One daughter, Mrs. McKendrick of New Brunswick, Canada, died several years ago.

For the last twelve years the deceased had made her home in Brainerd and Minneapolis, making her home with her different sons.
She was a devoted Christian and found her greatest solace in Bible study and being a directing force of love and devotion in her large family circle. She held membership in the Presbyterian church of Canada.

The funeral arrangements will not be completed until all relatives are communicated with.

BULL FIGHT IN FADE OUT

But Will Show up as Big as Life in "Blood and Sand" at the Lyceum on Sunday

The bull fight advertised for Sunday afternoon at the ball park has made a fade out. It caused a lot of talk when broached and could not have been staged at all, first because the law does not allow such a contest and second, if allowed, the promoter had neglected to take out his show license and the city officials are quick to stop anything trying to operate without the necessary license.
However the topic of bull fighting has caused histories and other literature to be scanned and failing to see a real test of Spanish skill in this regard, the next best thing will be to go to the Lyceum and witness
"Blood and Sand" opening next Sunday.

NOTICE

It has come to my notice that a rumor is in circulation that Mr. C.
O'Brien had endeavored to foreclose on my home. The facts are he never had a mortgage on my home. I am glad that an opportunity has been offered to me not only to deny such a charge, but that having been employed by him for seven years, he had always endeavored to assist me in every way, and not only me but hundreds of others which came under my notice.

It was with reluctance that I left his employ, and only the increased remuneration induced it.

HERBERT C. HUGHEY DIED THURSDAY

Passed Away at Age of 65 at His Farm Home in Long Lake
Township

LEAVES WIFE AND 4 CHILDREN

Had Lived in Crow Wing County
Since 1879, Farmed in Long
Lake Since 1884

Herbert C. Hughey, age 65, died this morning at his home in Long Lake township from paralysis. He leaves a wife and two sons and two daughters who are J. Edgar Hughey of Roy, Montana; Harry M. Hughey of Long Lake; Mrs. W. L. Taylor of Deerwood; Miss Mary Estella

Hughey, teaching school in Dickson, N. D.

Mr. Hughey was taken sick Monday evening and was confined to his bed. Doctors were immediately called and everything was done to ameliorate his condition, but he kept on failing and later lapsed into unconsciousness, passing away at 3:30 o'clock this morning.

He had lived in Crow Wing county since 1879, taking up farming in 1884. He and Judd Wright and E. O. Webb came west together from Nelson, Penn., in the early seventies. At Brainerd he worked in the railway shops and at carpenter work and later acquired a farm by trading his city property. The quarter section in Long Lake he improved and made a model farm.

He was a member of the First Presbyterian church and attended whenever possible. The funeral arrangements have not been completed as the family is awaiting word from relatives out of town. Interment will be in Evergreen cemetery.

LEAVES WIFE AND 4 CHILDREN

Had Lived in Crow Wing County
Since 1879, Farmed in Long
Lake Since 1884

Herbert C. Hughey, age 65, died this morning at his home in Long Lake township from paralysis. He leaves a wife and two sons and two daughters who are J. Edgar Hughey of Roy Montana; Harry M. Hughey of Long Lake; Mrs. W. L. Taylor of Deerwood; Miss Mary Estella Hughey, teaching school in Dickenson, N. D.

Mr. Hughey was taken sick Monday evening and was confined to his bed. Doctors were immediately called and everything was done to ameliorate his condition, but he kept on failing and later lapsed into unconsciousness, passing away at 3:30 o'clock this morning.

He had lived in Crow Wing county since 1879, taking up farming in 1884. He and Judd Wright and E. O. Webb came west together from Nelson, Penn., in the early seventies. At Brainerd he worked in the railway shops and at carpenter work and later acquired a farm by trading his city property. The quarter section in Long Lake he improved and made a model farm. He was a member of the First Presbyterian church and attended whenever possible. The funeral arrangements have not been completed as the family is awaiting word from relatives out of town. Interment will be in Evergreen cemetery.

Young Peoples Department Enjoys
Social Hour After Business
Session

The Young Peoples Department of the Methodist church held their regular monthly business meeting on Tuesday night in the church parlors.

Following the business session the young folks enjoyed a social hour, with music and games. The evening closed with refreshments.

The department holds its Sunday meeting in its own rooms during the Sunday school hour. A full attendance is requested. Visitors are welcome.

Card of Thanks

We deeply appreciate the kindness of our neighbors and friends and the members of the several orders who so thoughtfully offered their sympathy and help during the time of our deep sorrow.

We appreciated the floral tributes and the respect evidenced by the large gathering at the services at the Peoples Congregational church.

COLLEGE GRADUATES ON THE BALL FIELD

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, March 29.—Opportunities that professional baseball offers to a college graduate have been the cause of many arguments. Opinions are more or less equally divided. Mathewson, Eddie Collins, George Sisler and Frank Frisch are held up as examples of what professional baseball will do for a college man, but there are a hundred examples just as good of what it will not do.

Commissioner Landis is paid for having the biggest opinion in baseball. When he was asked once what he would recommend to a boy of his, if the lad wanted to take up professional baseball, he preferred not to answer.

The best of many opinions on the subject was given recently by Carl Lundgren, the highly successful baseball coach of the University of Illinois. His opinion should be worth something. He is a college man himself, a successful big league pitcher. With the Cubs he was a member of a team that won three National League pennants and two world's championships.

"I would not advise any college athlete to go into professional baseball, unless he is of big league caliber," Lundgren says. "A man of only ordinary ability would be wasting his time by entering the minor leagues. But if a man does decide to enter the big leagues, HE SHOULD ALWAYS KEEP IN MIND THE PROFESSION HE HAS CHOSEN FOR LIFE—the work that he will do off season and continue when his baseball days are over. The national game is a good one in which to accumulate funds to start a business of another nature. Some men have made their fortunes solely by playing baseball. But these are the big stars of the diamond."

That sounds like practical advice and it is heavy.

The very few graduates of the "Big Three" who have gone into professional baseball have always been used as an argument by those who believe it is a mistake to waste years developing a profession that has to be abandoned before the prime of life is reached.

Eddie Grant, who died in the Argonne forest, is the only conspicuous success of Harvard men who have gone into the major leagues. "Jockey" Conlon, star catcher of the Crimson 1922 nine, is now with the Boston Braves.

John McGraw has the other two "Big Three" representatives with his New York Giants—Waddy McPhee, from Princeton, and Jim Kernan, Yale catcher.

McGraw seems to be going in more and more for college players. In his memoirs he says he prefers the college boy, because he tries to correct his mistakes, whereas others are prone to cover them up.

PRIVATE GOTHAM SERIES WOULD NET PLAYERS $10,000

New York, March 28.—Another world's series staged privately in New York will mean almost $10,000 each to the winning players and nearly as much to the losers.

This bait dangling before their fingers should make the Giants and the Yanks mighty hard to beat in the pennant races. It is sufficient to make even some of the languid Yanks shift into high gear. The erection of the new Yankee stadium to accommodate a crowd of 70,000 and the improvements in the Polo grounds which will increase the capacity to 52,000 should provide a stimulus to the eight clubs in both leagues.

Every one of the American league clubs can figure on the end that would come to them if they played half or more of the series in the Giant park and an even greater inducement is offered to the National league club that could beat out the Giants and get into a series in the Yankee stadium.

John McGraw has a great money club, perhaps the most balanced and collected team under fire in either league. It is impossible to conceive of a more powerful urge on the Giants than the lash of McGraw and the rattling of coin in the series money bag. It is a combination that will impose a severe handicap upon the athletes of Pat Moran and Bill McKechnie.

ARTHUR FLETCHER IS FIRST TO BE CHASED

Cleveland, March 28.—Manager Arthur Fletcher of the Philadelphia National league club is believed here to be the first player ejected this season. Fletcher was chased from the park by Howard Holmes, the new American league umpire, at Lakeland during a game between the Phillies and the Cleveland Indians for too much talk, according to advices received here.

Games Tonight—Finals
Aurora vs. Austin.

Minneapolis, March 29.—Aurora lived up to advance expectations by defeating St. Cloud, 23 to 9, and entering the semi-finals. The range boys outplayed and out generalized their lighter opponents throughout the game. There never was the slightest question of doubt as to the possible outcome of the game.

The game showed that Aurora has a great team and must be respected by other teams in the tournament.

Austin in Special Train

Minneapolis, March 29.—A special train today brought boosters and the boyscout band from Austin for the state high school championship basketball game tonight at Kenwood armory.

Austin meets Aurora in the finals. Scores of boosters from the range country were expected to lend a backing to Aurora, favored by most basketball fans.

The Austin five has not lost a game in conjunction with the dance at Elks hall Saturday night.

Prizes will be awarded to all contestants. To the girl adjudged the closest counterpart to Miss Naldi will be awarded a Nita Naldi side comb, the rage of Hollywood and worn by nearly all the movie actresses on the west coast. The winning gentleman dancer will be presented with a sheik cigarette holder, an exact duplicate of the kind used by Valentino.

Every bona-fide participant will be given a free ticket to the Valentino attraction at the Lyceum which opens a three-day run Sunday.

Appropriate music will be furnished by the Hedstrom's six-piece orchestra. The special contest will start at 8:30 o'clock and will be followed by dancing until closing.

FORT RIPLEY

Gust Peter and family left for North Dakota Monday for a visit with his parents. John Ausland is taking care of his farm in his absence.

Miss Elsie Pilon, who has charge of the housekeeping for Mr. and Mrs. Morris Knightguard, was with her mother over Sunday at home.

Eldor Stroming, who was sick with the flu for over a week, is recovering now. He has been missed much by his friends and neighbors.

Fred Morrisette drove to Brainerd Tuesday with a load of chickens and found a good market for them.

Carl Stroming, the popular mail carrier, had his trusty Ford out in making the rounds of his mail route. School has been closed for the Easter vacation and the school teacher, Miss Holt, has gone home for a week.

Oscar and Tegner Ausland, also Lawrence Palmer, were callers at the Pilon home on Sunday.

That First Love Affair.

I was a freshman in high school. My parents forbade me to go with any boys; but, as I was boarding in town and my parents lived ten miles out of town, I thought it would be safe to go to the movies with a boy friend. When we received our tickets and found our seats, we also found we were sitting in front of my parents. This, indeed, ended my boarding in town and also my first love affair.—Exchange.

Gets Wide Fame at the Age of 20

Marguerite De La Motte, the charming leading lady in the Preferred Picture, "Shadows," which will be shown last time tonight at the New Park, started her professional career as a dancer. Madame Pavlowa, the celebrated artist of the ballet, saw little Miss De La Motte dance at a school entertainment. She sent for her and urged her to make a serious study of toe-dancing. When Miss De La Motte graduated she followed the advice given her by Pavlowa, but her ambition for dramatic work was too strong and she left Duluth where she had always lived and journeyed to Hollywood to break into the movies.

Through hardly past her twentieth birthday Marguerite De La Motte's name is known to everyone who appreciates an attractive personality plus real ability to give a finished performance. B. P. Schulberg, president of Preferred Pictures, who personally supervises production, was so impressed with Miss De La Motte when he saw her play opposite Douglas Fairbanks in "The Three Musketeers" that he offered her the principal role in his Tom Forman production, "Shadows," which is the most interesting part she has yet attempted.

"Shadows" is an adaptation of Wilbur Daniel Steele's prize story, "Ching, Ching, Chinaman" and the author himself expressed his approval that character of Sympathy Gibbs had been entrusted to so capable a player.

Wallace Reid and Elsie Ferguson in "Forever" at the Lyceum

One of the most remarkable pictures seen here this season is "Forever," starring Elsie Ferguson and Wallace Reid, which was given its premier with immense success at the Lyceum theatre yesterday. The picture, a George Fitzmaurice production of the finest grade, is one that can be recommended to the most blasé picture fan, because of its beauty, drama and appeal. The cast is unusually clever. It is showing again tonight for the last time.

Jack Holt Versatile

You might not think from seeing Jack Holt, Paramount star, on the screen, or even off, that he is gifted with a sense of humor and that he takes a never-failing delight in badinage. But it is so. He has a fund of dry humor and surprises even his intimates by springing some unexpected remark that breaks up the seriousness of any assemblage. On the other hand he is given to serious thought as well and when it comes to amusement prefers a lively game of polo or a canter on horseback to almost any other. In "The Man Unconquerable," which comes to the Lyceum theatre Friday and Saturday,

Jack Holt in the Paramount Picture "The Man Unconquerable"

Mr. Holt has the role of a wealthy city man who inherits a pearly concession in the South Pacific and goes there to straighten out a tangle. Result—he wins the love of a French girl (played by Sylvia Breamer); bests a couple of villains and brings success out of failure.
